CITY TRUSTEES

Not Much Doing—Reports of City Officials—Action on Ornamental Lights Postponed

All members present. A long list of demands was referred. Supply committee recommended the purchase of Indian motorcycle for the police department at price of $307.50. Report was adopted. City officials made their monthly reports which were duly referred. The tax collector reported $1158.31 collected during the week; total to date $9111.13. An application to do street work by private contract on portion of Sixth street was received from E. D. Reynolds and was granted. The hearing in regard to ornamental street lighting district was laid over until next meeting. An ordinance changing the grade of Sixth street from Adams street easterly to the Childs Tract line, was read first and second times and laid over. Mr. Lane brought up the matter of the Glendale Consolidated Water Co. which he said had in numerous instances arbitrarily turned off the water without presenting a bill, and made a motion that the matter be referred to the city attorney and the board of public works. In instances were related where the same company had charged for meters where they were not put in. The motion was seconded and adopted. Mr. Lane also called up the matter of rates charged by the gas company and called upon the city attorney for an opinion. That official stated that he had taken the matter up and found that although the opinion of many lawyers is to the effect that a city of the sixth class has no power to regulate gas rates, but he believed that under a decision of the Supreme court in reference to the city of Pomona, this power does exist. Upon motion of Mr. Watson, city attorney was requested to present the matter to the gas company and ask them for a statement in regard to their business in Glendale. At 8:30, breaking the record, the meeting adjourned.

BASKET BALL.

The basket ball season is now well under way, and the High School team is rapidly getting into form. Thus far seven games have been played. The team won against the Mechanical Arts U. S. C. Dentals, Huntington Park and the State Normal, losing to the Alumni and to the Burbank High School twice. A good second team has been formed. The team has some pretty good material.

ELLEN BROWN NEWCOMB.

A Well Known and Popular Woman Passes Away.

At a few minutes before midnight last Friday, as easily as a child falling asleep on the breast of its mother, Ellen Brown Newcomb breathed out the last of her mortal life. She had been bedridden for the greater part of the last two years, but her mind was perfectly clear until the end. The body was cremated Monday morning at Rosedale cemetery, Rev. C. R. Norton, a personal friend of the deceased, reading the simple service which was attended by relatives only.

Mrs. Newcomb had a wide circle of friends in Glendale and vicinity, as she delighted to mix with people and was always greatly interested in the social life of the neighborhood in which she lived, being particularly interested in making the stranger feel at home in new surroundings and was thoughtful at all times of the happiness of others. She never "grew old" in spirit, and to the very last was inspiringly cheerful in thought and act. She was one of the original members of the Tuesday Afternoon Club and when physically able was always one of the most reliable of the members in her attendance at its meetings.

Ellen Brown Newcomb was born in Brownfield, Oxford county, Maine, in 1852. Was married in 1856 to Eleonor Newcomb, who survives her. Her grandfather, Brown, was one of the early settlers of Brownfield, and a descendant of the Puritans.

On the other side of the family she was a descendant of William Wentworth of England, one of seven brothers also among the first settlers of New England. Mrs. Newcomb and family came to Glendale 25 years ago and has ever since been actively interested in the development of this section. She frequently expressed her thankfulness that none of her immediate family had been taken away by death and would have doubtless acknowledged the fitness of herself being the first one called.

She leaves a husband and three children, all residing with their families in Glendale: Mrs. Mabel L. Tight, Mrs. W. C. Fraley and Mr. Clarence Newcomb.

Mrs. Newcomb had an ear for rhythm and an eye for the beautiful. At sixty years of age she painted pictures in oil which have been said by competent critics to display more than mere talent, and she was a writer on many occasions of much very pleasing verse. Only a few weeks before her death she contributed to the NEWS the following lines:

A Prayer.

I must pass away from this beautiful earth
Where flowers and all fair things have birth.

I love them all and the sea and sky
And light and life, but I must die.

I feel that with death we cease from pain,
Never sorrow can vex the tired spirit again.

I am told of the mansions prepared for blest
Of the way-worn soul in its infinite rest.

Yet, O Master, I pray when my earth life is o'er Give me sight of the loved of this world evermore.

NEW PASTOR LEAVES PEORIA

The following is from a recent issue of a Peoria, Ill., paper:

Keen regret is being felt among the members of the Bethel Presbyterian church, the ministers of the city and many Peorians that today marks the close of Rev. Walter Edmonds' career in Peoria. Mr. Edmonds preaches his farewell sermons today. The subject of the morning discourse is "Stand Fast," and the evening sermon subject is "Now."

On Tuesday, Mr. Edmonds will go to Mendota where he will join his wife and five children, who left for that place which is Mrs. Edmonds' former home early last week. The Edmonds family will spend Thanksgiving at Mendota, after which they will go to Los Angeles, Cal., where Mr. Edmonds will occupy the pulpit of the church at Glendale, a suburb of Los Angeles. Departure for the west will be taken Dec. 4.

Mr. Edmonds has established an enviable reputation during his stay in Peoria. He was one of the chief workers in the Young Men's Christian association building campaign, soliciting money and holding shop meetings and the like among men of the city who he believed would be interested. He was also an active member of the Peoria Ministerial Association. The pulpit will be filled by Dr. Humphrey of this city until another regular pastor can be secured.

Mr. Edmonds comes to Glendale to take the position of pastor of the Presbyterian church to which he has been called. He is expected to arrive Friday and will preach the first sermon under his engagement next Sunday morning. A new home for his occupation is almost completed on Cedar street between Fourth and Fifth.

REGULATOR INSTALLED IN STREET LIGHT DEPARTMENT.

At a cost of about $1100, the city lighting department has inaugurated a great improvement in the street lighting system in the shape of an automatic regulator, which controls the pressure of the electric current and over the system so that it will be at all times alike, giving a steady light from all the street lights instead of a more or less variable one such as it has been before. The unevenness of the lights that has sometimes been noticeable has been caused by the varying current furnished by the power company, also by the variation caused by other demands upon the current. Hereafter under anything like normal conditions the street lighting system will be assured of a steady and invariable supply which will allow of no variation in the light furnished.

CITY TAXES AND ASSESSMENT

A Few Items of Interest to Taxpayers

There are about 1,300 taxpayers in the city of Glendale (original boundaries); which large number shows a high average for fairness in the distribution of property.

The assessed valuation is $2,016,640. Total tax levied by the municipality, $23,594.76.

Under the working of Amendment No. 1, by which corporations are taxed exclusively by the state, the city loses from this source, the sum of $937.63 which was collected last year from the public utility companies. These were assessed last year at $135,135, and the city sets on this sum from the state only 2 per cent, or $27.03. To offset this loss there is a reduction of 40 cents on the hundred dollars valuation in the state tax, so that the net loss is but little. The assessment of Glendale property this year is about 20 per cent higher than it was last year. Glendale city taxes become delinquent on the last Monday in December, which falls on Christmas Day, so that delinquency will no doubt extend until the 26th.

TO ADVERTISERS.

The issue of the NEWS of Dec. 30 will be an eight-page illustrated edition of 2500 copies. It will bring the story of Glendale and vicinity up to date. Space will be limited and new advertisers should get their orders in immediately at regular rates.

Burbank has organized a Chamber of Commerce with 85 members and will give a banquet soon.

Andrew Carnegie has given to public beneficiaries the immense sum of $215,500,000, and he came to America a poor boy!

The statement made by Judge Bord-well in regard to the McNamara case, puts a needed muffer on that false alarm, Mr. Lincoln Steffens.

A writer in the Christian Register calls for the "Christianizing of the automobile." Verily it is a big field.
The auto man does not yet own the earth; but those narrow pathways over it called roads are surely his!

The San Gabriel Valley Water Co. offers to sell to the city of Alhambra all of its holdings in that city, consisting of the distributing system and the wells in the Oak Knoll district, for $495,000. The company claims that the wells will furnish 450 inches of water.

In Los Angeles, Alexander, the candidate of the good government forces, was elected by a tremendous majority, and at the same time prohibition was defeated by a vote of two to one. Now there are those who claim that "the women did it," and the puzzled voter can only query, "which?"

Just what Lincoln Steffens accomplished toward procuring late results in the McNamara case, we fail to find out by reading his account of it. Indeed, much that he has written about the case seems rather worse than nonsense. If he can do anything, however, to bring capitalists and laborers together and enable each class to understand the other better, he can be easily forgiven for wasting much good newspaper space.

NO DEMAND FOR "HIGHER EDU- CATION" SCHOOL.

We note in a local contemporary, a suggestion for the purchase of a block of ground "for the site of a grammar school of enlarged capacity and a completely appointed high school." Glendale is at present supplied with a high school, which is of limited capacity, it is true, but there are ample grounds connected with it to accommodate any enlargement that may be required for a good many years to come. The "Higher Education" of this vicinity is amply catered to at present and it is unlikely that property owners would kindly take to any proposition to provide for any more top-heavy mental development at public expense in the near future. But the question of providing ample facilities for a good grammar school education, is quite a different proposition.
The people have always been liberal in regard to this and can be depended upon to be so in the future. Any reasonable bonded indebtedness for building school houses, is one not keenly felt by the taxpayers; it is the running expenses which show in the tax rate year by year that tells and which should be kept down to a reasonable amount. It is the $30,000 for the high school and the $9000 for the grammar schools, all to be collected in one year that the taxpayer feels and which swells our tax rate until it is more than three-fourths of the total amount we pay excluding municipal taxes.

While every one interested in this section would be glad to have established here an institution of learning to teach the technical or higher branches of education, there is no demand for such an institution to be supported by the taxpayers at large.

AN INTERESTING ERA.

These are great days for the newspapers. Scarcely ever before in the memory of the worst slave to the newspaper reading habit, have there been so many topics of interest from day to day in their columns. There is unrest the world over, breaking out in turmoil and even war in places.
Old China is being turned upside down with the probabilities of Young China triumphant. Italy is gaining victories of doubtful value over the uncivilized Arabs of the desert. The great Russian bear has swept down upon Persia and is threatening to swallow that rather undigestible piece of geography.
Getting nearer home, Mexico is in a ferment, breaking out here and there with more or less serious insurrections as various leaders long suppressed by the strong hand of Diaz, have resumed their old pastime of rebellion on general principles against the powers that be. In our own country the war between capital and labor has taken on a new complexion that to the hopeful presages an era of good feeling and an elimination of bitterness in working out problems of common interest. At Washington, congress has assembled and what promises to be one of the longest sessions in our history opens pregnant with possibilities. At the state capitol the statesmen of the New Era are struggling to put upon the statute books such legislation as will make it difficult for any one to go wrong, provided he can digest the new laws and allow his footsteps to be guided by them. Verily it is an interesting era in which we live and although a multitude of evils may shorten human life, the average citizen is not going to die of ennui.

THE McNAMARAS AND LABOR.

In the first issue of the NEWS after the destruction of the Times building in Los Angeles on the first day of October, last year, this paper editorially said, "The labor unions will have to bear a large part of the odium of this crime, which has undoubtedly been committed by that 'inner circle' of those organizations, which believes in obtaining its ends by terrorism." All the circumstances of the case pointed to that conclusion and have persistently pointed in that direction ever since, and yet unionism almost unanimously refused to await the outcome of the trial, but persistently and without any spirit of reasonableness insisted upon the innocence of the accused; created out of the whole cloth outrageous stories of assumed "conspiracy of capital" and was never so vigorous and persistent in stirring up prejudice and class hatred.

The confession of the guilty men was nothing less than providential, for evidence however conclusive and the verdict of a jury however prompt and unanimous, would have failed to convince the thousands who are blinded by prejudice, and therefore incapable of clear judgment. The blowing up of the Times building was the culmination of a long series of similar affairs, differing only in degree. There have been a hundred cases here and there all over the country, of structures being dynamited, and always they were the property of owners who had fought for the "open shop," or of concerns that had patronized them.
Samuel Gompers and other union leaders had declared many times that the work was not done by union men, when unless they knew the perpetrators. It was not humanly possible for them to know that their assertions were true. Mr. Gompers is said to be a man of kindly attributes and until lately has not been suspected by any one of a guilty knowledge of these crimes, but he and other leaders of the labor organizations must have at least suspected that fanatical union men were guilty of them, and it is to the shame of these leaders that they made no serious efforts to bring the perpetrators to justice. Meanwhile the honest and well-intentioned majority of these great organizations, continued, unknowingly, to contribute of their means to supply the criminals with funds and contributed during the trial of the McNamaras to a "defense" fund, which, as any man of average intelligence knows, could not be legitimately expended. That it will be shown that this fund was used in part for the subornation of perjury, is at this time one of the probabilities verging upon fact.

District Attorney Fredericks is quoted as saying that the McNamaras are not criminals, but fanatics. If this means anything it is that their natural tendencies were not toward crime, but that they imagined they were fighting in such a holy cause that the end justified the means. The greatest enemy of society is the person possessed of this idea and the greatest crimes in history have been those committed by this class of people from the time that the Jews crucified Jesus until now. Doubtless the McNamaras were made criminals by their environment, they breathed the atmosphere of hatred until it absorbed all the milk of human kindness in their systems when the object was one of the hated class. They belonged to that unfortunate class of people who were capable of looking upon such unspeakable demagogues as Eugene Debs, as fit leaders for their following, and who found in that treason-able sheet "The Appeal to Reason," the mental pabulum that their souls demanded.

This was the situation until a few days ago. It is impossible to believe that this condition can continue; surely the eyes of the blind have been opened and the doctrine of class hatred will not be taught so generally, nor believed by so many in the future as in the past. Let the unworthy leaders of labor be driven into the ranks of the anarchists, where they naturally belong. If they escape the prisons that are waiting to welcome many of them, Labor unions have no enemies except in their own ranks. Every intelligent human being acknowledges the right of labor to organize for its protection and advancement, but always under the law, and always with the understanding that labor if unorganized still has rights. The cause of labor has not been injured by recent developments. It will purge itself of unworthy leaders and after the ordeal through which it is passing, emerge purified and made strong.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB.

The club will meet Dec. 12 at the Country Club. After a short business session at 2:30 Miss Suzanne Deane will entertain the club with Christmas stories, among others the "Broken Doll." She will also give Maeter-linck's play, "Barbe Bleue." Mrs. C.
D. Hellyer will sing, accompanied by Mrs. Mattison Jones at the piano. Refreshments will be served.

The philanthropic committee of the Tuesday Afternoon Club wish to thank the people who generously assisted in the offering made on Thanksgiving Day. The following letter received by the chairman expresses fully the appreciation of the family:
We desire to thank you and all the kind people who contributed to our aid and happiness on Thanksgiving Day. While the abundance of food was enough to make any one in our circumstances feel thankful, yet it was the bond of sympathy, the knowledge that our fellowbeings have a care and feeling for the unfortunate and sad that makes the gifts a thousand times more acceptable. As we have no way of knowing all those to whom we are indebted, we should take it as a great favor if you will kindly thank them for us.

TO A NEW FIELD OF DUTY.

It is with deep regret that we have to announce the resignation of the Rev. R. O. Mackintosh, rector of St.
Mark church, to take place on the first of January. He has been appointed priest in charge of all the Episcopal church work in the Imperial Valley with supervision of the future developments in the important valley now being opened by different irrigation systems. Mr. Mackintosh has only accepted the offer after due counsel and deliberation with Bishop Johnson, who it is understood, has offered him this work as an advance. After advising him not to accept the vicarship of Holy Innocents church at Oakland, or to become head of an associate mission in Morgantown, North Carolina, succeeding the late Archbishop McNeal Du Bois.

Mr. Mackintosh came to Glendale from St. John's church, Springfield, Mo., in the diocese of Kansas City and has made many friends here, outside of as well as within his church circle.

CHICKENPIE SUPPER AND JEWEL BAZAAR.

This week Friday afternoon and evening the ladies of the Baptist church will hold a bazaar and serving a chicken pie supper in the storeroom recently occupied by the Miradoro Pharmacy on Brand boulevard between Third and Fourth streets.
Everybody is invited. Admission to the bazaar is free. The booths representing different jewels, will contain fancy and useful articles for sale. The ladies will begin serving the supper at five o'clock. The price is 35 cents; children under ten 25 cents. The following is the menu:

IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION.

The Valley Improvement Association held a meeting Thursday evening of last week (Thanksgiving). Not withstanding its being a holiday and no special program to attract, there was a fair attendance. A number of matters were discussed briefly. It was decided to give a bazaar in the K. of P. hall some time in January date to be announced later. At the next regular meeting, Thursday, Dec.
28th, Frank L. Muhleman, Esq., will talk about a new city charter for Glendale now made possible by the fact of having a population in excess of 5000.

(Communicated.)

It seems that many of the Casa Verdugo people will insist as a condition of annexation on three things: (1) a north line through the Thom and Ross ranch that will include all the abandoned orchard and a dedicated street extending from Fairview Avenue or Lincoln Place to Verdugo Road. This would open up this slightly region, which would otherwise be hemmed o-from the eastern part of the city and from Verdugo Park. (2) An escrow deed from Thom and Ross dedicating the bed of the "wash" to the public; and (3) taking in the Verdugo Hills slope to the summit as a scenic feature of vast value to the future Greater Glendale.

During the first six days of the Land Show at Chicago 43,000 people attended Southern Pacific exhibit. One hundred lectures have been delivered and lecture room was used for Kansas Day as well as California Day. Management of show states that more than 70 per cent of the people who attended this show visited the Southern Pacific lectures and lecture room is in strong favor of entire show. Various exhibitors and delegates from outside states award great praise to Southern Pacific liberality and that result will be to advantage of states served by system.

Stranger than fiction reads the life history of Col. John Sobieski, the

When joining in a demonstration in honor of Capt. Ingraham of the U. S.

INJURED BY BICYCLE RIDER.

Sunday evening, Rev. C. R. Norton and two ladies were passing along Brand boulevard between First and Second streets when a bicycle ridden by a boy shot by them in the darkness. The pedestrians stepped aside just in time to be scattered by another boy on a bicycle who came flashing along with head down, and this one collided with Mrs. Robbins of 120 Howard street, his head striking her in the face knocking her down and injuring her severely. Just at this time an automobile came along which proved to contain the parents of the boys. They picked up the injured woman and carried her to her home where she is recovering. The boys expressed great regret at the injury caused by their reckless riding on the city sidewalks without lights, both acts contrary to ordinance, and their parents did everything possible to atone for the injury to the lady.

Sec. 2. For the purpose of holding such special election there is hereby established a special election precinct to be known and numbered as "Special Election Precinct No. 1," the boundaries of which shall be the boundaries of the City of Glendale as they now exist; and the polling place for the holding of said special election in said Special Election Precinct No. 1 is hereby established and designated as the City Hall of said City, at No. 708 West Fourth Street; and the following officers of election are hereby appointed for the registered electors of the said Special Election Precinct No. 1, whose names appear on the last assessment roll of said City of Glendale, to serve as election officers in said precinct, to-wit:

Sec. 4. The polls for said election shall be opened at six o'clock of the morning of said day and shall be kept open until six o'clock of the afternoon of said day, when the polls shall be closed; provided, however, that if, at the hour of closing there are any voters in the polling place or in line at the door, who are qualified to vote and have not been able to do so since opening, the polls shall be kept open a sufficient time to enable them to vote. But no one who shall arrive at the polling place after six o'clock in the afternoon shall be entitled to vote although the polls may be open when he arrives.

Clever Crows.

In a garden a dog was eating a piece of meat in the presence of four crows. They evidently said a great deal to one another on the subject, and now and then one of them tried to pull the meat away from the dog, but he was naturally resolute. At last a big, strong crow succeeded in tearing off the piece, with which he returned to the tree where the others congregated.

A long row of crows ensued, which ended in all four crows flying down to the dog, the leading crow dexterously dropping the small piece of meat within reach of his mouth. The dog immediately snapped at it, unwisely letting go the big piece, which was seized by two crows and carried to the tree, where it was devoured with much uttering and hilarity, while the cheated dog walked away with every appearance of discomfiture.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

A Notorious English Spendthrift.

Among the customers at Long's, the famous hotel in Bond street, was the last Marquis of Hastings, the most notorious of mid-Victorian spendthrifts. Hastings, according to one who knew him well, "gambled so that not even the Bank of England, backed by the Rothschilds, with the mines of the Transvaal as additional supports, could have withstood the strain."

Yet even he protested at Long's when charged 2s. 6d. for a whisky and soda. The proprietor declared that this had always been the charge. "About time it was altered, then," retorted the marquis. Just before his death Hastings remarked to a friend: "I've made a pretty hash of my life. About all the good I've ever done was to bring down the price of a whisky and soda at Long's."—London Express.

CHAPTER V.

SEE WOULD A PLANTER BE.
SHELDON mended rapidly. The fever had burned out, and there was nothing for him to do but gather strength. Joan had taken the cook in hand, and for the first time, as Sheldon remarked, the chop at Berande was white man's chop. With her own hands Joan prepared the sick man's food, and between that and the cheer she brought him he was able after two days to totter feebly out upon the veranda. The situation struck him as strange, and stranger still was the fact that it did not seem strange to the girl at all. She had settled down and taken charge of the household as a matter of course, as if he were her father or brother or as if she were a man like himself.

"It is just too delightful for anything," she assured him. "It is like a page out of some romance. Here I come along out of the sea and find a sick man all alone with 200 slaves!"

"Recruits," he corrected. "Contract laborers. They serve only three years, and they are free agents when they enter upon their contracts."

"Yes, yes," she hurried on; "a sick man alone with 200 recruits on a cannibal island—they are cannibals, aren't they? Or is it all talk?"

"Talk!" he said, with a smile. "It's a trifle more than that. Most of my boys are from the bush, and every bushman is a cannibal."

"But not after they become recruits? Surely the boys you have here would not be guilty?"

"They'd eat you if the chance afforded."

"Are you just saying so, on theory, or do you really know?" she asked.

"I know."

"Why? What makes you think so? Your own men here?"

"Yes, my own men here, the very house boys, the cook that at the present moment is making such delicious rolls, thanks to you. Not more than three months ago eleven of them sneaked a whaleboat and ran for Malaita. Nine of them belonged to Malaita. Two were bushmen from San Cristoval. They were fools, the two from San Cristoval, I mean; so would any two Malaita men be who trusted themselves in a boat with nine from San Cristoval."

"Yes," she asked eagerly. "Then what happened?"

"The nine Malaita men ate the two from San Cristoval, all except the heads, which are too valuable for mere eating. They stowed them away in the stern locker until they landed. And those two heads are now in some bush village back of Langa Langa."

She clapped her hands and her eyes sparkled.

"They are really and truly cannibals. And just think, this is the twentieth century! And I thought romance and adventure were fossilized!"

He looked at her with mild amusement.

"What is the matter now?" she queried.

"Oh, nothing, only I don't fancy being eaten by a lot of filthy niggers is the least bit romantic."

"No, of course not," she admitted. "But to be among them, controlling them, directing them, 200 of them, and to escape being eaten by them—that, at least, if it isn't romantic, is certainly the quintessence of adventure. And adventure and romance are allied, you know."

"By the same token, to go into a nigger's stomach should be the quintessence of adventure," he retorted.

"I don't think you have any romance in you," she exclaimed. "You're just dull and somber and sordid, like the business men at home. I don't know why you're here at all. You should be at home placidly vegetating as a banker's clerk or—or—"

"A shopkeeper's assistant, thank you."

"Yes, that—anything. What under the sun are you doing here on the edge of things?"

"Earning my bread and butter, trying to get on in the world."

"By the blither road the youngest son must tread ere he win to hearth and saddle of his own," she quoted. "Why, if that isn't romantic, then nothing is romantic. Think of all the younger sons out over the world, on a myriad of adventures, winning to those same hearths and saddles. And here you are in the thick of it, doing it, and here am I in the thick of it, doing it."

"I—I beg pardon," he drawled.

"Well, I'm a younger daughter, then," she amended; "and I have no hearth nor saddle—I haven't anybody or anything—and I'm just as far on the edge of things as you are."

"In your case, then, I'll admit there is a bit of romance," he confessed. "He could not help but think of the preceding nights and of her sleeping in the hammock on the veranda under mosquito curtains, her bodyguard of Tahitian sailors stretched out at the far corner of the veranda within call. He had been too helpless to resist, but now he resolved she should have his couch inside while he would take the hammock.

"You see, I had read and dreamed about romance all my life," she was saying, "but I never in my wildest fancies thought that I should live it. It was all so unexpected. Two years ago I thought there was nothing left to me but"—She faltered and made a moue of distaste. "Well, the only thing that remained, it seemed to me, was marriage."

"And you preferred a cannibal isle and a cartridge belt?" he suggested.

"I didn't think of the cannibal isle, but the cartridge belt was blissful."

"You wouldn't dare use the revolver if you were compelled to. Or," noting the glint in her eyes, "if you did use it to—well, to hit anything."

She started up suddenly to enter the house. He knew she was going for her revolver.

"Never mind," he said, "here's mine. What can you do with it?"

"Shoot the block off your flag hal-yards."

He smiled his unbelief.

"I don't know the gun," she said dubiously.

"It's a light trigger and you don't have to hold down. Draw fire."

"Yes, yes," she spoke impatiently. "I know automatics—they jam when they get hot—only I don't know yours." She looked at it a moment. "It's cocked. Is there a cartridge in the chamber?"

She fired, and the block remained intact.

"It's a long shot," he said, with the intention of easing her chagrin.

But she bit her lip and fired again. The bullet emitted a sharp shriek as it ricocheted into space. The metal block rattled back and forth. Again and again she fired, till the clip was emptied of its eight cartridges. Six of them were hits. The block still swayed at the gaff end, but it was battered out of all usefulness. Sheldon was astonished. It was better than he or even Huggle Drummond could have done.

"That's really good shooting—for a woman," he said. "You only missed it twice, and it was a strange weapon."

"But I can't make out the two misses," she complained. "The gun worked beautifully too. Give me another clip and I'll hit it eight times for anything you wish."

"I don't doubt it. Now I'll have to get a new block. Viaburi! Here, you fella, catch one fella block along store-room."

"I'll wager you can't do it eight out of eight—anything you wish," she challenged.

"No fear of my taking it on," was his answer. "Who taught you to shoot?"

"Oh, my father at first and then Von and his cowboys. He was a shot—dad, I mean, though Von was splendid too."

Sheldon wondered secretly who Von was, and he speculated as to whether it was Von who two years previously had led her to believe that nothing remained for her but matrimony.

"What part of the United States is your home?" he asked—"Chicago or Wyoming or somewhere out there?"

"No, Hawaii. I was born there. It is a beautiful land. My, I'm almost homesick for it already. Not that I haven't been away. I was in New

Its History and Romance

By John S. McGroarty

A book that you will sit up nights to read. It is a one-volume story of the most wonderful state in the world told in the language of a poet. Every phrase is a song; every statement is a fact. It thrills and thrills and thrills.

Eloquent, yet concise; beautiful, yet solid; fascinating, yet instructive; it contains all that is essential and is a portrayal of California by the Golden State's most gifted and best loved writer.

Adapted to youth, middle-aged and elderly persons alike, it meets the universal demand of all for a single-volume history of California. It is very valuable to the student, not only for the knowledge it contains, but also as a study in word-painting and phraseology.

This work has been reviewed and passed upon by the most eminent historians and literary critics of California, to their complete satisfaction.

In one volume, thoroughly indexed, beautifully illustrated, splendidly bound and printed in good readable type, it is the most valuable book on the Holiday counter. Be sure that some member of your family receives it as a Christmas remembrance in order that it may have a place in your home.

Written by a Californian, published by a California house, it fulfills in every respect your choicest demand. Sold at all bookstores, or address York when the crash came. But I do think it is the sweetest spot on earth—Hawaii, I mean.

"I might as well begin at the beginning," she lifted her head with a proud air of dismissing sadness after the manner of a woman qualified to wear a Baden-Powell and a long barrelled Colt's. "I was born at Hilo. That's on the island of Hawaii, the biggest and best in the group. I can't remember when I first got on a horse nor when I learned to swim. That came before my A B C's. Dad owned cattle ranches on Hawaii and Maui—big ones for the islands. Hokuna had 200,000 acres alone. It extended in between Mauna Kea and Mauna Loa, and it was there I learned to shoot goats and wild cattle."

"You had been in the army, and dad was an old seadog, and they were both stern disciplinarians—only Von's girls had no mother, and neither had I, and they were two men, after all. They spoiled us terribly. You see, they didn't have any wives, and they made chums out of us—when our tasks were done. We had to learn to do everything about the house twice as well as the native servants did it—that was so that we should know how to manage some day."

"More than once one or the other of us had our rifles taken away for a week just because of a tiny speck of rust. We had to know how to build fires in the driving rain, too, out of wet wood when we camped out, which was the hardest thing of all—except grammar, I do believe. We learned more from dad and Von than from the governesses; dad taught us French and Von German. We learned both languages passably well, and we learned them wholly in the saddle or in camp. When I was sixteen we three girls were all sent up to California to Mills seminary, which was quite fashionable and stifling. How we used to long for home! We didn't chum with the other girls, who called us little cannibals, just because we came from the Sandwich Islands and who made invidious remarks about our ancestors banqueting on Captain Cook—which was historically untrue, and, besides, our ancestors hadn't lived in Hawaii."

"I was three years at Mills seminary, with trips home, of course, and two years in New York, and then dad went smash in a sugar plantation on Maui. Dad had nothing left, and he decided to return to the sea. He'd always loved it, and I half believe that he was glad things had happened as they did. He was like a boy again—busy with plans and preparations for morning till night. He used to sit up half the night talking things over with me. That was after I had shown him that I was really resolved to go along. We were ready to start to Tahiti, where a lot of repairs and refitting for the Mele were necessary, when poor dad came down sick and died."

"And you were left all alone?"

Joan nodded.

"Very much alone. I had no brothers or sisters, and an old man's people were drowned in a Kansas cloudburst. That happened when he was a little boy. Of course I could go back to Von. There's always a home there waiting for me. But why should I go? Besides, there were dad's plans, and I felt that it devolved upon me to carry them out. It seemed a fine thing to do; also I wanted to carry them out. And here I am."

"Take my advice and never go to Tahiti. It is a lovely place, and so are the natives, but the white people! Now, Barabbas lived in Tahiti. Thieves, robbers and liars—that is what they are. The honest men wouldn't require the fingers of one hand to count. The fact that I was a woman only simplified matters with them. They robbed me on every pretext, and they fled without pretext or need. Poor Mr. Ericson was corrupted. He joined the robbers and O. K.'d all their demands, even up to a thousand per cent. If they robbed me of 10 francs his share was 3."

"But when the robbers felt to cheating one another I got my first clews to the state of affairs. One of the robbed robbers came to me after dark with facts, figures and assertions. I knew I was ruined if I went to law. The judges were corrupt like every thing else. But I did do one thing. In the dead of night I went to Ericson's house. I had the same revolver I've got now, and I made him stay in bed while I overhauled things. Nineteen hundred and odd francs was what I carried away with me. He never complained to the police."

"Then I sent to New Zealand and got a German mate. He had a master's certificate, and was on the ship's papers as captain, but I was a better navigator than he, and I was really captain myself. I lost her, too, but it's no reflection on my seamanship. The German mate was drowned. We lay all night to a sea drag, and next morning sighted your place here."

"I suppose you will go back to Von now?" Sheldon queried.

"Nothing of the sort. Dad planned to go to the Solomons. I shall look about for some land and start a small plantation. Do you know of any good land around here—cheap?"

"By George, you Yankees are remarkable—really remarkable!" said Sheldon. "I should never have dreamed of such a venture."

"Adventure," Joan corrected him. "That's right—adventure it is. And if you'd gone ashore on Malaita instead of Guadalcanar you'd have been kai kaid long ago, along with your noble Tahitian sailors."

Joan shuddered.

"To tell the truth," she confessed, "we were very much afraid to land on Guadalcanar. I read in the Sailing Directions that the natives were treacherous and hostile. Some day I should like to go to Malaita. Are there any plantations there?"

"Not one, not a white trader even."

"Then I shall go over on a recruiting vessel some time."

Henley and Stevenson.
W. E. Henley once met Robert Louis Stevenson and found his friend distressed because he was not a Voltaire or a Dumas, though he had an equipment which ought to have made him their peer. Stevenson put his "failure" down to the weakness of his lungs.

"Perhaps you are right, Louis," said Henley. "I've always felt that if I had not been a blessed cripple I could have taken the earth in my hand and buried it into the sun."

SHAYER'S GROCERY

"A Little Store Well Filled."

CECIL E. SHAYER, Proprietor

TROPICO

M. S. Romich has just finished the construction of a beautiful residence at the corner of Eleventh street and Virginia place. Mr. Romich and family will occupy the residence.

Misses Pearl and Myrtle Harrison entertained a number of young people at their home on West Park avenue Monday evening. The hours were passed in music and conversation, and altogether proved very pleasant.

Rev. Henry Goodsell, a resident of Palmer avenue, has been appointed Methodist preacher at Chatsworth, a small town several miles north of this place. He journeys to the northern village every Saturday, returning to his home Monday mornings.

A sale of Christmas articles will be held in the parlors of the Presbyterian church today (Friday), by the Baraca and Philathea classes of the Sunday school. The young folks are hoping for a good attendance. During the evening a pleasing program will be rendered.

A committee from the Tropico Thursday Afternoon Club gave a dinner in the G. A. R. hall on Glendale avenue on Wednesday evening. The dinner was served from 6 until 8 o'clock during which time a concert was given by the Glendale high school orchestra. Following the dinner a pleasing program was given by local and outside talent. The candy booth and fish pond were generously patronized. The affair was given for the benefit of the club house fund.

The cry has been heard in Tropico during the last week: "Let Glendale put electric lights along her own streets before she tries to take in more territory." The people who are crying this claim that there are a number of streets on the east side of Glendale that have no street lights. This is just another "election" argument. To satisfy ourselves we made an investigation this week and find that every street in the city of Glendale has electric lights with the exception of a short street (Oak street) at the extreme northeastern corner of the corporate limits, and the reason this street has no lights is because there is not a soul living on it. Don't believe everything the anti tell you—investigate.

THE POPULATION SWELLED.

The number of people who will go into Glendale on the 16th of this month was swelled this week by two future voters. The girl in the case arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joy Goodsell of Palmer avenue. She arrived a few days ago and has taken to singing the praises of "Greater Glendale" ever since. Convincing arguments why Tropico should join to the city to the north are being lustily proclaimed by Master Morgan, who arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest J. Morgan of Central avenue last Sunday morning. With these two new boosters in the field there should be "nothing to it."

NOT GIVEN A SQUARE DEAL.

The references made in the editorial columns of the Tropico Interurban Sentinel last week with regard to articles favoring consolidation which appeared in the Sentinel's columns the week previous were, we think, altogether uncalled for. The Sentinel stated that "the consolidationists reasons for wanting to become a part of Glendale were few; were read with little interest and digested with no difficulty. They were received with neither enthusiasm on the part of their friends nor concern on the part of their opponents." Evidently some one was endeavoring to create the laugh, hoping that the laugh would, to some extent, overcome the fact that the arguments presented by the consolidationists were received with much favor by those wishing to go into Glendale and even by those who are "on the fence." Doubtless the arguments were received without concern by those opposing the move—that's the reason they are doubling their efforts to turn the minds of the voters, and also, why they squirm a little when a certain issue of the Sentinel is mentioned.

TROPICO-METHODIST NOTES.

Rev. Carnes will take for his subjects next Sunday morning, "Perfecting Holiness," evening, "The Sovereignty of Christ."

The Ladies' Aid society held the regular monthly business meeting in the church parlors Tuesday afternoon.

A called meeting of the Epworth League of the church was held in the church Tuesday evening. Some business was transacted and refreshments were served. The attendance was small.

A literary and musical entertainment will be held in the church on Friday evening, December 15th. The proceeds will be used to purchase new music for the choir. The program is being planned and arranged by S. G. Biddle. Local and Los Angeles talent will appear on the program.

At the regular business meeting of the Sunday school held in the auditorium last Sunday afternoon the following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing six months: Superintendent, Joy Goodsell; secretary, Miss Dora Horne; treasurer, Alphonso L. Chandler; superintendent of temperance work, Robert Taylor.

The regular monthly business meeting and social of the Epworth League will be held in the church Friday

(this) evening. Election of officers will occur at this time. A good attendance is desired.

All arrangements for the Christmas program and treat for the Sunday school children are in charge of Mrs. McCall's class this year. Already several meetings have been held to plan the affair and preparatory work is well under way. It has been decided to hold the Christmas program and treat on December 22, the Friday preceding Christmas, the affair to be held in the church.

WEST GLENDALE

Mrs. McRae has moved to 1440 Vine street.

Mr. Wm. Kinser has bought a house, 1913 Maple street, and moved in Monday last.

Mrs. Ross B. Moyd who has been seriously ill for some time, is now convalescent.

Frank Budway has bought a lot on Fifth street between Columbus and Central and will build upon it.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Andrews have moved into the new house on the south side of the S. P. railroad track, occupying it Saturday last.

Mrs. Anna Rand who recently bought the Salvo property on Vine street, has added two rooms to the house, making it a 9-room residence.

Mr. C. E. Snively, who recently sold his home on Vine street, has moved the house from the lot there to a lot on Penn street and moved into it with his family on Saturday last.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Parker have rented the cottage at the corner of Columbus and Hawthorne streets, and are entertaining for some time their friend, Mrs. Moyer of Kansas City.

Mr. Thayer, a late arrival from the East, has bought two acres on Moore avenue east of Glendale avenue, and will soon build a house there. He is at present residing at 1620 Vine street.

Mr. J. H. Reagan, who some four or five months ago bought property on the corner of Seventh and Central, has sold the corner lot there for $1500, he has also sold the adjoining lot on which the house stands and has bought a lot on the corner of Sixth and Central.

We note several new houses in the course of construction in the neighborhood. The building inspector of Glendale says that since the annexation of this part of town he has been so busy that he hardly has time to eat and is obliged to have the assistance of a young lady for office duty. This speaks well for the "country people" as he laughingly called us.

The West Glendale school is still in a flourishing condition, new pupils coming in all the time. There was no special Thanksgiving exercises this year, merely a very short program of songs by the different classes. But we hope to have later an account of the Christmas exercises of which I think a fit title will be "It is better to give than to receive." A full account later in the NEWS. If you are not already a subscriber, get a copy and see what is going on around you.

WEDDING BELLS CHIME FOR A POPULAR YOUNG COUPLE IN WEST GLENDALE.

On the evening of Nov. 27th, Miss Alma Peters and Mr. Earl E. Wilke were united in marriage at the home of the bride on West Fourth street. The date chosen was the birthday anniversary of the bride, and also of the wedding and birthday anniversary of the father of the groom. The Rev. Michel of the German Lutheran church of Los Angeles performed the ceremony. The house was very beautifully decorated, the parlor being in smilax and chrysanthemums, while the dining room was a bower of chrysanthemums and asparagus plumosus. The guests numbered the relatives of both the bride and groom, and few very intimate friends.

Mrs. Wilke needs very little introduction, being widely known to many friends throughout the valley. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Peters, have resided in West Glendale for a number of years and highly respected by all. Mr. Wilke is also well known to every one and has been for some time the proprietor of a very flourishing dairy. A host of friends and the NEWS offer congratulations.

CASA VERDUGO

Mr. J. R. Lockwood of north Louis street is busy getting the North Glendale annexation papers signed.

Dr. A. C. Brown and wife of North Yakima, Wash., are spending the winter with their cousin, Mrs. N. A. Edgings, at her home on Fairview avenue, North Glendale.

Mr. C. H. Allison of Fairview avenue, North Glendale, the father of two fine boys, Charlie and Ira, spent a few days last week with his family. He is engaged in oil business at Bakersfield.

An all-day meeting of the ladies of the Casa Verdugo M. E. church was held at Mrs. N. A. Edgings, Tuesday, Dec. 5, to complete arrangements for the bazaar at the church Friday afternoon and evening, Dec. 8.

The plans include a booth for each of the six week days, and things for the occupations of these days will be sold. Monday, washday things; Tuesday, ironing things, etc. In the Thursday booth Rev. and Mrs. Norton, with Mrs. Barrett will receive their friends. The Saturday booth you will be sure to buy the most delicious home-made salads, pies and cakes that will remind you of the old Christmas times in Illinois, Iowa and Ohio and Wisconsin, and doughnuts made perhaps from the same New England recipe that your grandmother used.

Ice cream and cake will be served afternoon and evening. All the friends are invited. Come and have a happy time.

Mrs. Sidney Dell's Casa Verdugo neighbors had a happy time at her residence when she gave them her third lesson in the simple science of politics. On a vote of the women electors present, Hon. Alex. Mitchell of Kenneth road was elected governor of the state of California at a salary of $10,000 a year. His wife, Mrs. Jessie Mitchell, was elected lieutenant governor. Salary $4000 per year. A contest is possible at the next meeting Thursday, December 7, 7:45 p. m., at Mrs. Dell's, on the ground of nepotism, too much of a family scheme.
